DOI Assists in Creation of Yap CID's Case Management System (CMS)

September 17, 2012

The first Case Management System (CMS) in Yap has been created for OPA's Compliance Investigation Division (CID). Assisting in its creation was Special Agent James Smith of the U.S. Department of the Interior (DOI) Office of Inspector General (OIG).

James, who works out of the Virginia office of OIG, is an investigator specializing in computer crimes.

The CMS will be used to manage cases and activities including providing statistical information regarding CID's operations. The project was initiated by Chief Investigator Sophia Pretrick in coordination with OIG Assistant Inspector General Robert A. Knox. The Office of the Yap State Public Auditor (OPA) wishes to thank Messrs. Smith and Knox for their assistance, and the OIG for its continued support.
